EARLY CAPTURE OF

MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—Red army columns urged westward through the eastern Ukraine today in a large-scale campaign to smash the entire Nazi Winter defense line.

The Soviet drive was speeded following capitulation of the Nazi strongpoint of Kursk, 125 miles north of Kharkov, and threatened the whole German line in south Russia.

In new advances beyond Kursk the Russians captured many more strongpoints and wiped out another 6,000 of Hitler's invasion forces, front dispatches reported.

Heavy Rostov Blows

Heavy blows were unleashed against the Caucasus gateway city of Rostov, southern pivot of the Nazi line, and early collapse of the German hold there was expected.

"In the area of Rostov," the high command announced at noon, "our offensive continued. Our troops re-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

The soybean turns up in an astounding variety of places on the war front as well as at home. Aside from being part of the new "Victory" sausages we will be eating soon, the versatile bean helps produce glycerine, salad oils, oleomargarine, rayon ethyl gasoline, printer's ink, celluloid, synthetic rubber and soap.

Another holiday is looming for some of the persons who observe legal holidays. Friday is Lincoln's birthday.

One week ago was groundhog day. From the kind of weather we have experienced since that time it would be hard to tell whether the groundhog saw his shadow or didn't. We've had a touch of most every kind of weather since.

Enough Reclaimed Rubber
To Carry Out Program
Says Director Jeffers

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—An OPA order removing all restrictions on having tires recapped or retreaded with a comeback, effective about March 1, was expected today.

The OPA was ordered to take the action by rubber director William Jeffers who said that there would be enough reclaimed rubber to carry out the program.

The order will not end the present rigid control over purchase of renovated tires but will permit car owners to have their own tires recapped without government authorization.

Jeffers asked that the order be issued as a rubber conservation measure. OPA sources explained that it would be in saving of rubber since it is designed to encourage motorists to have their tires recapped before they are worn beyond repair and new tires are required.

The basic critical rubber situation in no way involved, OPA sources said, since the recapping program will require no synthetic rubber and only small quantities of crude rubber are necessary to cement the comeback to the tire.

What Happened"

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Feb. 9.—War Worker Kurvin Cassell, 25, walked into the York police station and announced: "I've killed my wife. What do I do now?"

Police rushed to his home and found Mrs. Flossie Cassell, 30, stabbed to death. The couple's two sons, Kurvin Jr., three, and Thomas, one, nestled by the body.

"Daddy hurt her," Kurvin Jr. told police.

On a kitchen table authorities found a knife, its eight-inch blade stained with blood.

Cassell told police that he and his wife started arguing "about nothing in particular" last night after he arrived home from work. "While I was eating breakfast, my wife started fixing my lunch. Then she started in on me again. I don't know what happened then."

"Next I knew I heard the older boy screaming and I had the knife in my hand and my wife was stretched out on the floor."

At Gas Hearing

Jewett And Morrow Going
To Washington For Gas
Rationing Meeting

New Castle will be represented Thursday, February 11, in Washington, D. C., when an appeal will be made by Western Pennsylvania for placement in Area Two in the rationing of gasoline. The decision to send representatives came following a meeting in Pittsburgh on Monday called by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. Representing New Castle will be Roger Jewett, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association, and Charles F. Morrow, vice president of the New Castle Motor club.

At the meeting in Pittsburgh on Monday the following men attended from here: J. Lepere Matthews, president of the GNCIA; Roger Jewett, executive vice president; Alec Samuels, president of the New Castle Motor club; Charles F. Morrow, vice president; James B. Foster, a director, and B. N. Hanlon, secretary-manager of the club.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who is also petroleum coordinator, will attend the meeting. Also attending will be U. S. Senators James J. Davis and Joseph F. Guffey along with a group of Western Pennsylvania congressmen. Delegations from Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Uniontown, Sharon and other cities will attend.

The purpose of the meeting is to have Western Pennsylvania placed in the same category as West Virginia and Ohio. This would give motorists four gallons of gasoline for every ration coupon. The main reasons assigned for the request are, the alleviation of public transportation which is crowded, the movement of war workers to and from plants, and the effect upon morale.

Reopen Shoe Sales
Under Ration Plan

Permanent Form Of Ration
"Currency" For Footwear
To Be Devised

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Shoe sales reopened today under the surprise rug book rationing scheme and OPA officials set to work on a permanent form of ration "currency" for the long-range distribution of civilian footwear.

It was indicated that war ration book No. 3, now in process of preparation, may be employed in the extension of shoe rationing beyond June 15. Stamp 17 is good for the purchase of a pair of shoes until that date, however.

Details of book 3 have never been disclosed, but it is expected to be materially different from the current book and also book No. 2, to be distributed later this month, which will be used to ration canned goods and meat.

OPA officials pointed out that it would be unwise to overload ration book 1, already used for coffee and sugar, by continuing its use for shoe purchase. Originally, a more elaborate method had been planned for shoes, but the program had to be streamlined and put into effect overnight because of a heavy buying spree.

Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown termed the shoe-rationing plan "ideal" in that it was rushed into effect without advance notice, thus preventing a wave of hoarding.

Pacific Situation Remains Puzzling

Jap Movements Present Mystery

Complete Defeat Of Jap Land Forces On Guadalcanal Certain In Short Time

AIM OF JAP FLEET IS NOT DETERMINED

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Despite the imminence of a smashing American land victory on Guadalcanal, the situation in the South Pacific today remained unsettled and disturbed due to the continuing presence of scattered but powerful Japanese sea task forces in that area.

While there was no official communiqué on recent developments in the Southern Solomons, a navy spokesman said that the situation there remained unchanged, with Japanese and American warships presumably still sparing for position in the latest series of engagements for domination of Guadalcanal.

Land Defeat For Japs

Complete defeat of the remnants of Japan's army on Guadalcanal appeared to be a matter of only a week or two at the most, unless the Japanese high command decided to attempt another sea-borne thrust to reinforce and supply the battered enemy troops.

It was recalled that Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, following a tour of the Guadalcanal area, predicted that Pearl Harbor late last month that an American land victory might be expected within 30 days.

Meanwhile, American airmen under Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia joined in the continuing Solomons campaign by blasting the important Kahili airrome on the southern end of Jap-held Bougainville Island. There was no mention of raids by planes from Guadalcanal.

Officials Puzzled

Official quarters in Washington remained puzzled about the current Japanese aims in view of the fact that the "sparring" actions have been underway for nearly two weeks.

When the navy first announced the fresh Japanese forays in the South Pacific, it stated that the moves indicated a major attempt by the Nipponese to regain control of the entire Solomons area. Up to last reports, this expected move had not materialized.

Some navy men believe that the Japs may be feinting in the Guadalcanal area and that actually they will strike further east against American bases in the New Hebrides or Fiji areas in an attempt to cut the supply lines to Australia.

Many of these graves are your fault, because many of these brave men and boys died for lack of equipment which your money invested in war bonds might have bought. True, today our Army and Navy are the best equipped in the world! But . . . we must have more tanks . . . more guns . . . more planes . . . more ammunition . . . and more food, clothing and mobile equipment. Every dollar you can spare is needed—vitally needed. Don't fall down on your end of this war job. Buy more United States War Bonds and Stamps now! Remember . . . you're not giving, but investing . . . investing in the safest thing there is . . . your America!

AN APPEAL THAT STRUCK HOME

POLICE CAPTAIN JOHN COLLINS, in New York, could speak from the heart when he went to a striking war plant in that city. An hour or so before he had said farewell to his 18-year-old son who was headed for an Army camp.

Captain Collins found 60 employees of the firm, which manufactures equipment for the Army Medical Corps, standing about glumly. They were angry because the War Labor Board had not answered their complaint about wages and working conditions.

He faced them and started talking—about young Americans fighting in Africa, in the islands of the Pacific, in planes over China and Europe. He spoke of men still to be wounded in action, whose lives might be saved by doctors using the very equipment those strikers could make, if the equipment were delivered. Suddenly, we are informed, the strikers marched back to their benches.

It's a good story. But why should things like this have to happen asks the Philadelphia Inquirer. Small or large, every single strike or slowdown in a war plant has the same significance as that Captain Collins so eloquently set forth in this minor walkout.

Yet the appeal, from burning deserts and muddy foxholes, is always coming: "Don't let us down." There could be no strikes and there would be far less absenteeism in war production if the many thousands of sincerely patriotic workers would assert themselves and refuse to quit, no matter what happens or who urges them to do it.

BOY SCOUT WEEK

This is Boy Scout Week. The whole nation pauses to salute the organization which has contributed so greatly, in this World War as in the last, to the winning of the war. But scouting does not rest on its laurels. The praises which scouts so justly have deserved for their countless services to their country only spur them on to greater endeavor.

It is hard to see how war bonds and stamps could be sold, or vital materials salvaged, or all the varied forms of printed information distributed, without the untiring help of these public servants. But there are higher services ahead. Almost 400,000 scouts are 15 years old or older; they may change ranks to the armed forces before the conflict is over.

The soldier who has been a Boy Scout makes a better soldier, and former Sea Scouts are officer material for the Navy, the Coast Guard and Merchant Marine. The "Toughen Up! Buckle Down! And Carry on to Victory" theme of scouting until the war ends will save lives through consummate training—and will make better citizens in the process.

Scouting is training for a way of life, the kind of life America chooses to lead, the kind for which her sons are fighting across the seas. On those fronts, and on the front at home, the qualities which scouting stands for—courage and character, assure us of victory and a lasting peace.

LESS WORK ON HIGHWAYS

The nation's three million miles of highways will slip slowly into disrepair. Materials ordinarily used to keep them in condition are vital now to the war effort. Even guard rails along lesser roads may collapse before new ones are erected, according to a writer in the Wall Street Journal.

Road shoulders are to be raked and graded, instead of bound with crushed stone and tar sprinkled with gravel. Driving in some sections, but not all, may be more hazardous.

The white or yellow lines that divide highways in half will become extremely pale before they are repainted.

Stone removal in some states will be confined to main highways.

New road repair and road building equipment is difficult to obtain.

The government has taken over some highways equipment, too, for jobs in army camps. Many war plants have needed such machinery.

Asphalt and tar that the highway departments use in large quantities as a binding agent in road building and repair are hard to get. There is plenty in the country, but tank cars have been diverted to other, more critical wartime uses. Most of this road-building asphalt came from Trinidad before the war.

Initially, gasoline tax revenues will fall far below normal. They are likely to decline 35 per cent in Pennsylvania this year.

HOME-COMING SCRAP

A little at a time, some of the scrap which went overseas, east and west both, in the form of planes, tanks and munitions, is coming back to continental United States. So far the amounts are so small that they do not make a real dent in the steel situation, but there is hope of more. Philip W. Frieder, newly elected vice president of the American Scrap Iron and Steel Institute, says:

"As we can control the African battlefields and those to come, there's the possibility that salvage of Axis tanks, motorized equipment, airplanes and blasted ships may increase to the point of becoming a factor in the American scrap situation."

There are difficulties in acquiring the scrap. Getting control of the battlefields is the first of these, then there is the transportation of salvage metals to ports, and handling them there for the quick turnaround of supply ships. There have to be facilities on this side for the other quick turn-around back to the overseas ports.

Another serious shortage of scrap seems to be developing and may come to a head in a few months. Every American will go through attic, cellar, barn and woodshed once more. But no American would be sorry to see some of that good old scrap once sold so gaily to Japan coming back to be used against her.

It is said that after the war we are going to enter the plastic age. For Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito it will be preceded by the plastered age.

Remember the gold old days when you used to step on the brakes, and with tires screeching turn into a wayside gasoline station with the cheery words: "Fill er up?"

Back in the peaceful thirties we sold scrap iron to Japan and the Japs converted it into ships and planes. Now our airmen in the Pacific are busy converting it into scrap again and our ships are bringing it back to America as ballast. This is fine. But it would have saved a lot of trouble if we hadn't sold it to them in the first place.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'T PAY CHILD TO HAVE TANTRUMS

Very early a youngster can learn to have his way by means of crying, screaming, kicking or raging like a maniac. Some continue having some sort of tantrums all their lives. Unwary parents are the first and greatest teachers of these despicable outbursts.

The young father and mother who know how a child develops normally and how to guide him well can bring up this child without his having temper tantrums. To this end, they agree long before the youngster is born on how they are going to guide him.

Start In Infancy

During the infant's early months the mother tries to avoid haste in caring for him. She is very patient and gentle and careful not to hamper him, unnecessarily. These parents agree that this child shall not have his way by crying for it. They teach themselves the meaning of NO and obey it.

As soon as the child begins to move about, his parents agree on effective ways to teach him the meaning of NO in respect to just a few situations, and gradually a few more later. They will agree to use the word, NO, very sparingly but when they do to stick to it consistently. Many a child develops temper tantrums when he learns that by a fit of rage he can make his parents give in.

Use Of Diversions

These wise parents study the child so as to keep him out of trouble at very trying times such as when he is tired and excited. In new and unexpected situations they will put considerable trust in diversions. Some young children given to temper tantrums need to have calm and family serenity.

Some of the most violent temper tantrums develop over futile attempts of the parents to coerce the young child to do what he is unwilling to do. They command and try to use spanking to make him do what they want him to do.

When Child Has Temper Tantrum

When a temper tantrum is on, the safest and surest procedure is to work on yourself and to act as if you were not present, steering yourself to feel no concern about it. Don't allow the enraged child to do harm to any thing or person, if avoidable. In no event, however, should you attempt to make the child in a temper pick up the thing he has thrown. Be most calm when he is most violent.

A good thing for any person to have is a reputation for getting things done. This holds good often when the person knows how to make other people do things good.

A stonewall is often not as hard to get through as a bunch of red tape.

YES, WHAT?

Boader: "It's disfrazzle, Mrs. Skinner! I'm sure two rats were fighting in my bedroom last night."

Mrs. Skinner: "So! What do you want for $3 a week? Mexican bull fights?"

Already there are people using a bread knife to murder people. The bread knife is always handy even if it is dull.

The chairman of the un-American investigation committee seems to have a lot of trouble right in Washington.

POWER OF SUGGESTION

The woman autoist posed for a snap-shot in front of the fallen pillars of an ancient temple in Greece.

Little Betty Blue lost her holiday shoe, what can little Betty do? Take it up with her local rationing board.

One misty, misty morning when cloudy was the weather all I met a little man clothed all in leather.

Naturally I reported him.

There was an old lady who rode a broom.

A little extreme but good shoe conservation.

One two, buckle my shoe.

Three, four, there ain't any more.

Thought for the day: Wanna buy a hot pair of shoes, buddy?

Hitler's Master Plan Menaced

Russian Gains Apparently Doom Plan To Feed Nazis From Ukraine

By PIERRE J. HUSS

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Adolf Hitler's master plan for feeding a warring Germany out of the vast "bread basket" of a conquered Ukraine appeared doomed to failure today as Soviet armies seized Kursk and swept forward to threaten Kharkov, key point of the whole German winter line in the south of Russia.

At the same time, reports indicated that Rostov—"Jinx city of the Nazis"—is passing back into Soviet hands as German forces there began to withdraw toward Taganrog to avoid a trap.

The fall of Kursk gives the Red armies an unparalleled victory in offensive warfare, and for the first time broke a dangerous gap into the 2,000-mile defensive wall established by the German high command in the autumn of 1941. From now on, any advance by the Red army from Kursk will constitute a grave flank threat to the entire German position in the Ukraine, while releasing large numbers of Soviet forces for an assault on Kharkov, 125 miles to the south, the king-pin in the Nazi line.

Hitler is boiling mad today, to say the least. Somebody in the German high command blundered, and was caught napping at his post in the Red surprise attack on Kursk. This means another shakeup in the military group around Hitler, and further desperate Nazi efforts for an early counter-attack on the whole Russian line from Kursk to the sea of Azov in an effort to halt the westward sweep of the Red armies and save the Ukraine for the swastika.

SPECULATION IN WASHINGTON and London has centered on the possibility that General George C. Marshall, U. S. Chief of Staff, may be named commander in chief of all Allied forces in the European theatre of war. Unofficially his name heads that of other Allied military chiefs.

War Planning

Agency Is Hit

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The congressional drive against bureaucracy took a new turn today when the House appropriations committee voted to abolish the administration's key post—war planning agency—the national resources planning board—by severing it from funds.

The action was disclosed as the committee formally reported its second major appropriations bill of the year—a huge $2,621,000,000 measure to finance the activities of 17 so-called independent establishments of the government through the fiscal year starting June 30.

The planning board, which is headed by President Roosevelt's son, Frederic A. Delano, had sought $1,400,000 for the period.

The committee's adverse action was taken without comment in its formal report. An outgrowth of the board created in 1931, the planning agency has been under steady congressional fire for the past six years, however.

The New Castle News was hardly on the street, until calls were pouring in at the residences of members and at Bundles' headquarters, phone 6518. Within a short time, more than 500 were offered. It is with deep appreciation the Bundles for America women accept all donations of furniture and clothing which is being used toward the war emergency effort. The organization is doing a tremendous job. Most efficiently.

While the supply of victory is ample, Mrs. Johnson states that there is a need for at least ten more radios, to be placed in the 15 additional day rooms. Bundles for America feel the boys in uniform will be more than grateful, for the donations, and there is a definite need and a place for this particular item. Just get in touch with either Mrs. Johnson or Mrs. G. G. Stitzinger, of call local headquarters.

Congress Showdown

On Payroll Purge

Resolve To Investigate Government Employees For "Subversive Activity"

By WILLIAM THEIS

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Congress came today to a long-predicted showdown on the issue of purging government payrolls of persons found through "complete and fair" investigation to be guilty of subversive activity.

Republican and Democratic leadership in the house joined in support of a resolution which would create a special subcommittee of the appropriations committee to undertake the investigation and submit recommendations for the "house-cleaning."

The vehicle, a resolution offered by Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.), of the appropriations committee in lieu of piece-meal withholding of payroll funds, was scheduled as the first order of business for the day.

Efforts to delay action on the $1,202,000,000 treasury-post office departments appropriation bill 6111 pending settlement of the employee purge question were defeated. The measure now comes up with a tentative amendment to eliminate one treasury employee, William Pickens, Negro promotion specialist whose loyalty was vigorously attacked and defended in almost five hours of debate yesterday.

Replying to a motion by Rep. Mundt (R., S. D.), for recommitment of the bill until the Pickens investigation is settled, House Majority Leader McCormick declared:

"If my friends asking me to hold up this appropriation bill for over a billion dollars just to settle the case of one man—brother you can shake your hand."

Business men during 1943 are taking over the college custom of wearing sweaters instead of vests, according to a New York clothing firm. Fuel oil rationing and a growing trend to increased comfort are the chief causes, it is stated.

GOOD JAPS INCREASE

(International News Service)

GALLUP, N. M.—The number of "good" Japs is increasing, and when they are all good and dead, our boys can come home," wrote Capt. Franklin T. Green, recently awarded a silver star for gallantry in action, to his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. English of Gallup.

COOPERATION

(International News Service)

ITHACA—Farm machinery dealers are overhauling equipment for farmers, who go to dealers' repair shops to help the few skilled repairmen do the work. This system enables the farmer himself to do much of the repair work, points out Prof. C. N. Turner of the New York State College of Agriculture, and enables skilled workers to accomplish the repair of many more machines than if they worked without help.

Three Safe After 83 Days On Life Raft; Two Died

American, Two Dutchmen Drifted 1,800 Miles On Open Sea Before
Rescue

(International News Service)
WITH THE ATLANTIC FLEET
AT A BRAZILIAN PORT, Feb. 9.— Adrift at sea 83 days on a rudely constructed life raft, one American and two Dutchmen were safe in a Brazilian port today after suffering incredible hardships. Two other Americans died from hunger and exposure as the small raft drifted more than 1,800 miles after their ship was torpedoed by an enemy submarine.

The American who survived the ordeal was Basil Dominic Izzi, 20, seaman second class, of South Barre, Mass. Names of the two other Americans were withheld until the Navy Department has notified their families.

The ship, a passenger vessel was sunk enroute from Capetown to the United States last November 2. They were rescued 70 miles off the Brazilian coast by an American submarine chaser.

The survivors were sustained in the nearly three months adrift "mainly by courage, birds, fish and rainwater," said Lieut. Gifford C.
 Ewing of Amenia, N. Y., commander of the rescue vessel.

"They were like skeletons with skin wrapped on them," he declared.
 "They had long hair and tangled beards and their skin was parched by the sun. Their ragged clothes were augmented with coverings from their life jackets."

Their raft was about 10 feet square, and was buoyed by two oil drums. Sharks trailed it for days at a time.

The survivors said only two life-boats had been launched from the sinking vessel. Sharks apparently attacked a number of the crew and passengers as they swam about the ship looking for pieces of wreckage to cling to.

There was enough food and water aboard the raft to last the five men 16 days with careful hoarding.

"But we were so sure we would

Pile Torture Relieved

The maddening itching, burning, the sting, the throb, are lessened and often greatly relieved by using Antiseptic San-Cura Ointment.

 Cura and received such comfort. I now want it for other uses. I enclose be rescued that we fed hardtack to the birds the first few days," said Izzi.

 "We came to regret this."

Ate Shark, Fish, Seaweed

The drifters caught a small shark by lassoing it with a rope. Fifteen unwary birds were captured and eaten and their entrails used to lure fish near enough to snatch them from the sea.

Sea snails that attached themselves to the raft were promptly devoured, and drifting seaweed was thankfully hauled aboard and chewed.

Fortunately a six-day period was the longest in which there was no rain.

One American seaman died on the 66th day and the other on the 76th day.

Using modern medical methods of feeding emaciated men, the crew of the rescue vessel brought the weight of the rescued men up a pound an hour for 13 hours. After five days they were able to eat solid foods.

Izzi and his two companions soon will be flown to the United States.

Knox Urges New Lend-Lease Use

By JACK VINCENT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox today urged that lend-lease funds be used to arm people of occupied European countries as U. S. forces pass through such areas "on the way to Germany."

"We know we are going to be operating in occupied countries of Europe," Knox said while testifying before the House foreign affairs committee on lend-lease operations.

Knox declared that he was not revealing future military plans but he was emphatic in stating that he believed American forces soon might be operating on the European continent itself.

Hunting Knives For Fighting Men Sought By Ferver

Uncle Sam's Forces Overseas In Need Of Long-bladed Knives

Capt. William E. Ferver, coman-der of the local unit of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps, has taken charge of the collection of hunting knives for Uncle Sam's men overseas, part of a national movement to procure these weapons.

Knives with blades five or six inches in length are the type sought.
 They can be left with Capt. Ferver at his store, 233 East Washington street.

Experience of men overseas has proven that these knives are a valuable weapon and have saved the lives of a number of men who have lost their other weapons.

Report Rommel's Troops Completely Out Of Libya Now

Victorious British Eighth Army Has Advanced To The Tunisian Border

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Nazi General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korp was reported today in dispatches from North Africa to have been driven completely out of Libya by the British eighth army which has advanced to the Tunisian border.

Forward units of the victorious British army continued to pursue the withdrawing Germans and Italians under fire from distant batteries forming Rommel's rear guard.

Patrols of the eighth army under command of Gen. Sir Bernard L.
Montgomery were active on the entire front along the Tunisian border south from the coast. Units advancing along the coast after a push from Plisida to the Tunisian border were driving in the direction of the Axis airfield at Ben Gardane, 20 miles inside Tunisia.

On the other side of the Tunisian front where British, American and French forces are arrayed against Axis armies defending Tunis and Bizerte, allied headquarters reported only limited patrol activity.

A French communiqué, however, announced the capture of an important height in the El Kebir valley, East of Ousselata, 50 miles below Pont Du Fahs. French patrols were credited with taking a number of prisoners when they repudiated an Axis attack.

The German radio meanwhile quoted a military spokesman as stating that Axis troops had reoccupied the town of Seden, 20 miles west of Maknassy which is 33 miles from the gulf of Gabes. American forces took Seden after destroying an Axis force of 1,000 troops but later withdrew.

New Destroyer Will Be "The Sullivans"

Warship To Perpetuate Names Of Five Sullivan Boys Of Iowa, Missing In Action

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A new destroyer—the U. S. S. the Sullivans—will go into action in the near future to perpetuate the names of the five fighting Sullivan boys of Waterloo, Iowa, all of whom are listed as missing in naval action.

The navy announced today that President Roosevelt has approved the naming of a new destroyer after the five sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan. The five boys —determined to serve throughout the war together—have been listed as missing since the Cruiser Juneau, on which they were shipmates, was sunk in action off the Solomons in November.

The mother of the five heroes will sponsor the new warship.

TWO ARE KILLED

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 9.—Two men met violent death in Mercer county, the coroner's office reported today.
Phillip Rakicki, 50, was drowned in the Shenango river when he allegedly jumped into the water from a tree, and Samuel Amster, 75, was killed when struck by a tractor chain on a farm near Grove City.

From 1875 to 1914 tennis balls were said to lack uniformity in bounce and size. An air plug in the ball made it one-sided. The balls were hand-made and had to be inflated with air by means of a hypodermic needle through the plug.

Sergeant Fritz Tells Of Work On Highway In Wilds Of Alaska

Back from a year's service in Alaska where he served as a member of the U. S. Army Engineers on the new Alcan highway, Staff Sergeant Edward H. Fritz, Jr., tells an interesting story of the construction of this new military highway which links the United States with Alaska by way of British Columbia. Sergeant Fritz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Fritz of Fairmont, W. Va.

Sergeant Fritz went into army service 19 months ago and after a training period was assigned to the 29th Engineers in California. For several months, his regiment, which is in the Topographical Section of the Engineers, surveyed military sites in the Mojave Desert and down into Mexico.

Then To Alaska
With other regiments, the 29th was ordered to Alaska about a year ago to do the topographical work on the new highway. This meant working over 1600 miles through forests, muskeg and vast stretches of tundra. Sergeant Fritz' headquarters were at White Horse which is about midway on the highway. From there he worked out through the Teslin Lake Region and the places he was located sounds like something out of Robert Service.

The Dawson Trail, the Chilkoot Pass, the Yukon, the Klondike, Anchorage, Skagway, Fairbanks, the Hootalinqua River, all of them are spots he visited. Near the site at Lake Teslin is Lake Leberge, the lake made famous by Robert Service when he wrote "The Shooting of Dan McGrew".

The highway, as a military artery is now complete, but there will be more work done on it by civilians, easing curves and later, putting on a more permanent surface. But the Alcan highway, over 1600 miles in length, finished in slightly over six months, stands as a monument to the genius of the United States Army Engineers.

Officers And Men
"The work went on day and night" said Sergeant Fritz. "After being on the Alcan job and seeing rivers, lakes and tundra spanned by the Engineers, I left Alaska convinced there is nothing an American Army engineer can't do. Our officers were not only highly skilled engineers, they were military men whom we respected not for their rank alone but for their qualities as men. The work wasn't easy but none of our officers asked us to do anything they were not willing to do themselves."

At times, the party in which Sergeant Fritz was assigned was out in the wildest part of Alaska. For food they sometimes shot big game and caught fish. In the summer months there was hardly any darkness, in the winter, daylight lasted from about 9:30 in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon. At times the temperature went down as far as 72 below zero.

Some weeks ago Sergeant Fritz was given the opportunity to come back to the States and enter the Officers Candidate School of the Engineers located at Fort Belvoir, Va. Leaving his post to take the boat at Skagway, Sergeant Fritz travelled by airplane, dog team and train.

He will visit his parents for another week when he will leave for Fort Belvoir.

Senate Confirms Judge Rutledge

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The Senate on Monday confirmed the nomination of Judge Wiley B. Rutledge of the District of Columbia court of appeals to be a supreme court justice, thus filling the vacancy caused by resignation of economic stabilization director James F. Byrnes.

Sen. Langer (R) N. D., made the only speech in opposition to confirmation. He said that Rutledge lacked practical experience necessary to make a good supreme court justice.

Without Painful Backache

Many suffers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidney is a kidney and it will take in excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When a kidney of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, keeping up nights, aching, pain in the back, and a feeling of weariness and listlessness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys.

Among the points brought out was the one of expense, which has been estimated by the mothers' committee sponsoring the move for re-establishment, would be about $5000. U. S. Transfers 285 Ships Under Lend-Lease Plan

Also Has Repaired 245 Vessels Of Other Nations Under Same Program

By JACK VINCENT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox reported to congress today that the navy has transferred 285 American ships to foreign flags under the lend-lease program and repaired 245 vessels of other United Nations, including many battleships, cruisers, and aircraft carriers.

"It's extension," he added, "will be a major, perhaps a decisive, factor in our ultimate victory."

The 285 United States vessels transferred to foreign nations did not include 251 small craft and boats, according to Knox. The total value of all the craft was placed at $127,000,000 by the secretary. Knox estimated, too, that the navy had spent $117,850,000 in repairing foreign naval vessels.

"Many of them," Knox stated, "were large combat ships, battleship, cruisers, and aircraft carriers."

Knox, at the outset of his testimony, insisted that "the extension of the lend-lease act is vital to our war plan."

"Upon it depends the execution of our war strategy for combined action by the United Nations," he maintained.

Knox told the committee how the United States was cooperating with other United Nations on all war fronts of the world. In the South Atlantic, he said, Brazilian pilots flying American lend-lease aircraft and Brazilian crews manning lend lease service craft are helping the navy in protecting sea lanes against Axis submarines.

The ring was said to have stolen the tires from a Philadelphia distributing company and falsified the records of the firm to cover up the thefts. None of the officials of the tire company, however, are involved in the case, a spokesman for the U. S. attorney's office pointed out.

Indictments will be asked for two justices of the peace, one from Delaware county and the other from Montgomery county; officials of a suburban finance company, and a large number of "small fry," it was learned.

The ring was said to have stolen the tires from a Philadelphia distributing company and falsified the records of the firm to cover up the thefts. None of the officials of the tire company, however, are involved in the case, a spokesman for the U. S. attorney's office pointed out.

More than 8,000 new tires were involved in numerous thefts, it was said. Prices ranged from $50 to $75 a tire, including any type from passenger to the largest "over-the-road" truck type. Sales were said to have been made through private sources, employees of gasoline service stations and garages.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Ralph Schugar Chapel, Pittsburgh. Interment will be in Beth Shalom cemetery.

The name of the state of Arizona comes from "Arizona" ("Ari small and "Zonac" spring), so-called by the Papago and Pima Indians, according to the state historian in 1927. Prof. John C. Van Dyke, however, in The Desert, says it was clipped from "Arida-Zona," meaning the "dry belt."

Kosciuszko Makes World Broadcast To Polish People

New Castle Sergeant, Descendent Of General Kosciuszko, Speaks For OWI

(Special To The News)
CAMP BOWIE, Texas, Feb. 9.—International drama has just occurred at Camp Bowie.

Prompted by the same spirit that urged General Thaddeus Kosciuszko, Polish leader, to fight for the liberation of his country and, later, General George Washington's forces during the American Revolution, T. Sgt. William Stanley Kosciuszko, 23, now at Camp Bowie, has just broadcast, in his native tongue, a message to all the Polish people in the world, telling them not to lose hope because the day of their liberation is coming. The short wave broadcast was under the sponsorship of the Office of War Information, in co-operation with the armed services and other government agencies and United Nations representatives.

Sgt. Kosciuszko, a native of New Castle, Pa.—where his father, who was born in Poland, still lives—is assistant foreman of a repair platoon of an ordnance company at Camp Bowie. He is well-acquainted with the principles of mechanics—handling tank, truck and motorcycle motors—and this same trait was found in his great, great, great, great grandfather, because the general was one of the men responsible for today's American corps of engineers.

Organized Engineers
On May 27, 1778, congress authorized that in the engineering department, three companies be established "to be instructed in the fabrication of field-works, as far as relates to the manual or mechanical part. Their business shall be to instruct the fatigues parties to do their duties with celerity and exactness, to repair injuries done to the works by the enemies' fire, and to prosecute works in the face of it." This corps was organized and conducted primarily by the French.
